Jack McAuliffe surprised his many Bo ton friends with a visit and he was given a warm reception. Jack was not averse to talking fight, and, in regard to the challenges from Paddy Smith and Jem Carney, he said: "I see that Paddy Smith of Brooklyn has challenged me to fight for $1,000 as side and the belt, but Smith cannot fight me unless he makes the stakes $2,500 a side, and nothing less. I made up my mind not to fight for any smaller, amount and I propose to stick to that statement. I have $250 posted at the Poince Gazette office, and, any puglist that wants to fight me for $2,500 a side, has only to cover that forfeit. In regard to Jem Carney's answer to my challenge, I know he does not want to fight with bare knuckles; two ounce gloves are plenty small enough for him or any other fighter. I will meet him before any good club in England. I will go to England this year, whether Carney agrees to fight me or not." lenges from Paddy Smith and Jem Carney,

Centre; Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."
